Holland Taylor, CEO, USA Global Link; Jim Wolfinger, WorldCom Wireless.

Membership Committees:

TRA has three standing committees: Underlying Carrier Committee, Conference Planning Committee and Ethics Committee. It also has four advisory committees: Local Service Council, International Resale Council, Prepaid Services Council and Wireless Resale Council.

Mission Statement:

The mission of the Telecommunications Resellers Association (TRA) is to encourage and help facilitate the opening of telecommunications markets worldwide to full and fair competition while also proactively advancing the business interests of its member companies. TRA's members are companies, individuals and other associations that are actively engaged in providing telecommunications and other utility services through resale, or that provide products and services supporting telecommunications and other utility resale. TRA stresses the importance of ethical operations in the marketplace, encourages the involvement of small businesses and entrepreneurial enterprises in the telecommunications industry and operates as an organization dedicated to the fair and equitable treatment of all members.

Agenda Items:

A key function of the associations is its representation of resellers' interests through government relations on the state and federal levels. This year, TRA is working closely with the FCC and state utilities commissions as they establish rules implementing the Telecommunications Act of 1996. In particular, TRA is advocating the unrestricted network unbundling and resale of local telephone services at cost-based rates. TRA is also dedicated to ensuring that the regional Bell operating companies meet all the requirements before being allowed to enter the in-region long distance market.

History:

TRA represents more than 650 companies involved in the resale of telecommunications services—a multibillion-dollar industry lead by an estimated $12 billion long distance resale segment. TRA has evolved into an association representing not only switched and switchless resellers of domestic and international long distance services, but resellers of myriad telecommunications services, including local network, wireless and enhanced services.

Resellers typically make volume purchases of telecommunications services from facilities-based carriers and offer their customers discounts in conjunction with value-added services and a full range of customer-support functions, including customized billing, customer service and consultation. These firms range from emerging high-growth companies to well-established, multimillion-dollar enterprises. Combined, they provide services to millions of residential and business customers nationwide.

Formed in August 1992, TRA is the result of the merger between the Telecommunications Marketing Association and the Interexchange Resellers Association, two groups that promoted switchless resale of long distance service for nearly two years prior to joining forces. TRA merged with the National Wireless Resellers Association in 1997.

You know when you have hit upon a good idea. It feels right. The competition will be distanced, creating the space you need to build market share. Time is of the essence.

But, too many good ideas prove to be still born. They are left at the Starting Line because you cannot get the information you need to prove them out, or worse, you cannot bill them. Your back office fails to get your brain child out of the front door.

Highland Lakes Software, the leading supplier of in-house billing and Management Control Software solutions, can help you to control your destiny. Our Communications Accounting System (CAS) has unparalleled flexibility, and robust multi-product support designed in.

What's more, CAS gives you "Can Do" capabilities, allowing your statements to include Long Distance, 800, Local Service, Wireless, Voice Mail and other gee whiz products.

Whether you are a start up or an established firm, call us today for more information about CAS. Starting at just $475.00 per month.

Wouldn't it be great if Teltrust verified everything?

Someday Teltrust might even be able to verify this.

In the meantime, we may have to be content to provide the best verification services in the industry.

Teltrust is the leader in third-party verification services because we supply total outsource solutions. To ensure our client's growth and regulatory compliance, we provide everything from professional multilingual agents to state-of-the-art call center facilities - including interactive computer and telephony systems, digital recording devices, remote call monitoring and even live access to verification recordings.

In short, we combine the most applicable technology with the most experienced people. That enables us to direct the right resources at the right time to deliver what you need - the most efficient verification process.

So whether your requirements demand the immediacy of "on-line" and "direct-connect" inbound verification or the more gradual approach of outbound methods, Teltrust always aims to exceed your expectations with expanded database accuracy, electronic reporting expertise and significant call-length reductions.

If all this sounds ... well, hard to believe ... why not call and verify it for yourself?
